“Being a part of an event like this and seeing so many people come together to raise money for the future of our industry is a very rewarding experience. Thirty-five years ago this event was created by Nationwide Boiler’s late owner, Dick Bliss, to support a charitable cause. I think he would be very proud of what it has become today”, stated Jeff Shallcross, President and CEO of Nationwide Boiler.

Member companies of the ABMA provide safe, clean and efficient steam systems for comfort heating, process steam, hot water and heat recovery.
